

Pilbara's Port City

2005

Where we were...

With a population of 15,000, the Town of Port Hedland was beginning to embrace the rapid growth as a result of the increased demands on the local mining industry. Planning was being undertaken to release more land, build more houses and improve social infrastructure.

2006 - Playground and Parks Upgrade

2007 - Launch of Land Use Master Plan

2007 - Port Hedland International Airport Upgrade

2007 - Wedge and Edgar Street Upgrades

2008 - Installation of public art in Port and South Hedland

2010 - South Hedland Land Release

2011

Where we are now...

With airport numbers increasing from 111,000 to almost 300,000 in five years and with over 20,000 residents in town, Council has partnered with State Government, agencies including Pilbara Cities and LandCorp and industry players such as BHP Billiton Iron Ore to implement strategic plans to achieve Council's vision of transforming into Pilbara's Port City.

Relocation of Hedland Wastewater Treatment Plant

New Multi Purpose Recreation Centre - Opening May 2012

JD Hardie Centre Upgrade - Reopened June 2011

Water Play Park - Opening December 2011

South Hedland Aquatic Centre Upgrade and Redevelopment

South Hedland Town Centre Revitalisation

2025

Where we are heading...

Hedland will be a regional city boasting a population of 50,000. The town will have a modern international airport servicing over one million passengers a year, with flights available to capital and international cities. Our Spoilbank Marina will be a world-class tourist facility, whilst our South Hedland Town Centre will be the vibrant and attractive heart of the City. The local economy of the town has become diverse with the growth of local small to medium businesses providing long term economic sustainability for Pilbara's Port City.

